RAILWAYS TALK

OF TELEPHONES

AS PROBABILITY

WOULD SUPPLANT THE PRE-

SENT SYSTEM OF TELEGRAPH

LINES.

WRAY'S PATENT DISCUSSED

Former Janesville Man's Invention

Revolutionizing Entire System of Handling Trains.

When the railways adopt the telephone system of Archibald Wray, a former Janesville resident and a son of the late J. C. Wray of this city, it will mean a revolution of far-reaching importance in the operation of railroads, and one which will mean the complete revolutionizing of the present method of train dispatching.

It has been adopted by the American

Railway association, the most influential body of executive railroad officials in the country.

The telephone is to be supplanted

by the telegraph.

It looked out yesterday that the joint committee of the association on interlocking and signaling, of which

P. C. Rice, general inspector of transportation of the Chicago, Burlington &

Quincy railroad, is chairman, after months of investigating, the subject of telephone employment in train operation, recommended to the semi-annual convention of the American Railway association, recently held in Chicago, the adoption of the telephone and the subsequent displacing of the long used telegraph.

This installation of the telephone for train operation is a direct result of the law limiting the continuous service of telegraph operators to nine hours.

This legislation, necessitating the additional employment of over 8,000

operators, cost the various carriers a sum estimated at nearly $10,000,000.

The roads subsequently began experiments with the telephone as a means of commanding the operation of trains.

While Mr. Wray's patents are not the only ones on the market they are in use on many of the largest and most important railway lines in the country. Locally it will be interesting to know that they extend from

Baraboo to Chicago, through Janesville

on the Northwestern road and have been in use for some time.

Seven hundred miles of the Burlington are also equipped by the same service as is the Pennsylvania line between Philadelphia and New York city. The Delaware and Lackawanna also have it installed on portions of their service and the Rock Island also.

Mr. Wray was formerly connected with the Burlington system but is now

the railway engineer for the Kellogg

Switchboard company with headquarters in Chicago. His invention is covered by patents and while there are others on the market the general adoption of the telephone in place of the telegraph would mean a fortune

for him.

The investigating committee of the American Railway association inspected the system installed by the Burling-

MADE SETTLEMENTS

OUT OF THE COURT

Neighborhood Troubles in Emerald

Grove Still Being Discussed

Freely.

Last September some of the youths living near J. T. Barless' farm in the town of Emerald went swimming in a swimming-hole near the road, where members of Mr. Barless' family had to pass. Robert Barless, Mr. Barless' nineteen-year-old son, is alleged to have driven them from their sport

with a big whip and was arrested.

On September 24th he paid a fine of $15 and costs in the municipal court for the assault upon John Loomis, aged eleven, a son of Dr. E. A.

Loomis of Emerald Grove. At this time the settlement was made by the lawyers for the two sides owing to the fact that Mr. Barless alleged in his exposure on the part of the little fellow swimming. Later a second warrant was sworn out for young

Barless, this time by Charles Playter, whose sons were likewise alleged to have been whipped at the same time

as the Loomis boy.

This case was also settled out of court upon payment of fifty dollars and costs by Mr. Barless during the past week. Mr. Barless, however, believes an injustice has been done his boy in that the fact, recounting the settlement of the case did not show

his side of the story and asks that it be made public.

J. T. Barless alleges that he warned the boys not to swim in the pool

in question, but that his son never swam there, but in a swimming-hole further back from the road; that his son did not hide in the bushes, as there are none near the pool, and lay in wait for the boys, but went down from the house after his daughters came back and told of being chased

by the boys, who were not clothed.

Mr. Barless also alleges that he and been told by the "Player boys" father to "trim them up" if they went there again and that he had instructed his son to do so. When young Barless was arrested the counter charge of indecent exposure was made and it was to avoid a long drawn-out trial that a settlement was made.

The entire trouble has stirred up much hard feeling in the section of the country it occurred in and Mr.

Barless yesterday asked his attorney to prepare a statement relative to the matter for publication, which was done, but which the attorney for the Playters refused to sign, as it differed materially from the case as presented to him.

The fact of the whipping of the boys by young Barless was not disputed and when the case was settled in September on the complaint of Dr.

Loomis, Judge Field gave the defendant a severe lecture. The boys were evidently trespassing upon Barless'

land and according to Mr. Barless running around with no clothes on.

The basis for the last settlement was

as follows:

"Whereas, Various differences and grievances have arisen between John

Last Evening.

At Waterloo, Wis., last evening, the Janesville Y. M. C. A. basketball team won a victory by the score of 24 to 19. It was the opening game of the season for the local boys but their bi-weekly practice had rounded them in good form, as the playing proved.

Olin and Litch did fast work as forward. Bennett was a tower of strength at center, and Deems and Baker did splendid work in their positions as guards. After the game the local visitors were royally entertained. A return contest will be played here in the near future.

HAVE REBUILT THE

FALLEN ICE HOUSE

Cave-In Caused by Decayed Timbers

at the City Ice Company's Store House.

Wednesday evening, October 14, about seven o'clock, the leasehouse of the City Ice company on North Main street fell in with a crash that brought out all of the nearby-tesdents. The cause of the fall was the rotting of the timbers of the center

wall of the building, which Jackknited and let down the roof and most of the other walls. The northern portion of the building was almost undamaged and so what ice there was in the other two parts was stored in it.

Since then the work of repairing the damage has gone on and it is expected that the building will be ready for use by the first of December or at least in time for men when the ice era is harvested. All of the walls which were damaged in the fall have been rebuilt or repaired. The foundations have been straightened and rebuilt with concrete and a new roof

will be put on in place of the one which fell.

MONSTER BENEFIT
FOR OLD ACTRESS

Rose Eytting Former Great Shakespearean Interpreter Is Seventy Years Old Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Portland, Ore., Nov. 21.—Showered with flowers and many gifts of a more substantial character, Rose Eytting today received the congratulations of a host of friends and admirers on the occasion of her seventieth birthday.

For several years past the once famous actress has made Portland her home. When she retired from the stage she was possessed of sufficient wealth to keep her from want during the remainder of her days. An unfortunate investment, however, wiped out her funds and left her practically penniless.

This week a monster benefit performance was given for her in this city and to the proceeds was added liberal contributions from members of the dramatic profession throughout the country.

Few actresses now living have a more interesting history than has Rose Eytting, known off the stage by the more prosaic name of Mrs. Butler. She was born in Philadelphia, November 21, 1838, and there received her education. Literature was her favorite study and she soon had an irresistible attraction for her.

She was still in her teens when she first realized her ambition to appear upon the boards. She had beauty, she had talent and, what is even more, she had ambition and the energy to conquer obstacles.

From minor roles she advanced rapidly to more important parts and her joy was great when for the first time she had the opportunity to impersonate one of Shakespeare's immortal heroines. Her time grew from season to season, as she added success to success and charmed the lovers of the drama by the masterly presentation of Shakespeare's great heroines, Hermione in "Winter's Tale," Cleopatra in "Anthony and Cleopatra," Lady Macbeth and others.

For many years she was acknowledged one of the most brilliant exponents of Shakespearean characters upon the American stage.

Although the classical drama was her first love, she did not confine her talent to the interpretation of Shakespearean characters, but created important parts in many contemporary plays with equal success. Among these parts may be numbered Rose Michel, Amanda Chandee in "Lord Arctur," Fellen and many others. She was always good, but best in emotional parts, which seemed to suit her temperament better than all others.

After her marriage to Mr. Butler, who was in the American consular service and at different times held the position of consul-general in Alexandria and Cairo, Egypt, Rose Eytting left the stage for some time and traveled extensively in Europe and Africa. In her leisure hours she devoted herself to literary work, proving herself equally clever as novelist and playwright. Necessary as such inclination compelled her to return to the stage after a number of years. Although her youthful dash and brilliancy no longer fascinated her audiences, the refinement of her interpretations and her perfect mastery of emotional expression never failed to please, interest and convince.

DANGEROUS TEACHERS.
The writer's attention recently has been called to certain peripatetic "teachers" who are said to be exploiting the doctrine that it is sinful for men and women to live with one another in any other way save that of "the spiritual life."

Many of these wolves in sheep's clothing! They have broken up many happy homes.

The best advice one can give is this: Should this sort try to make disciples in your community see that they are sent away.

Charlatans of this kind have ruined homes in many places.

They peddle a kind of cult that appeals at first to the intellect. Afterward, when the disciple is believed to be "strong in the faith," the inner teaching is revealed.

There is much talk of "exoteric" and "esoteric" teaching, the outside for the world, the inside for the faithful.

First comes the piously put declaration that "the life of the spirit" is the only true life.

Then comes the inner teaching—the delicate suggestion of "spiritual affinity."

And then—destruction.

It may seem strange that sensible people should become devotees of these cults and be victimized by apostles of such teaching, but it should be remembered—

Every normal human being is hungry for spiritual food. The craving is just as keen as that of the physical appetite. And the appetite itself is not always the most accurate judge of what is best.

The fads exploited by many of the long haired itinerants are not dangerous. They are for the most part sublimely silly. But—

There is a specious plea that does attack the heaven ordained relations of husband and wife and that leads to HELL ON EARTH.

Thousands of poor devils on the sea of life have been wrecked and set adrift by phony pirates.

Society needs to keep an eye on dangerous social interlopers who masquerade in the guise of religious prophets.

Whenever and wherever the sanctity of family life is imperiled by the propaganda of any preacher, prophet, impostor, professor or what not—

This tablet can still be seen, although nearly covered by bark.—Mexican Herald.

Teach Poor Women to Cook.

Some of the home economics clubs of the east have established "centers" with all cooking school conveniences, where poor women may be taught how to keep house and cook economically. There is no fancy cooking taught, but simply the things that are served by the poor people themselves each day, only they are taught to keep account of the expense and cook economically.

WHAT IS ALVEOLAR DENTISTRY?

Alveolar dentistry is just a new name for bridge work—simply a new name for an old method.

No Alveolar dentist attempts to put in teeth unless you have a few remaining teeth upon which to build the bridge work.

When you pay more than $5.00 to have a gold crown put on a tooth, whether it is called an Alveolar crown or by any other name, you pay too much.

I charge $5.00 for gold crowns, and it is sufficient for any dentist to charge—this means for the best work it is possible to do.

Call any time as you go by, and talk the matter over; you will not be obliged to have the work done.

SEWER WORK TO BE RUSHED ALONG

MEN LAYING BIG PIPES ON DIFFERENT BRANCHES OF THE SERVICE.

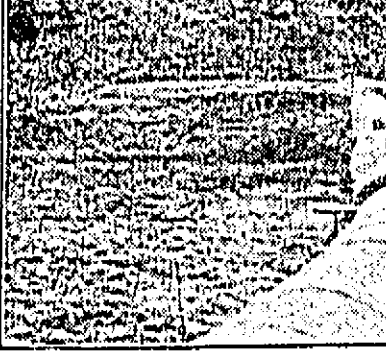

NOT FINISHED TILL SPRING

During Winter Steam Jets Will Have to be Used to Dig the Ground.

For the Trenches.

Since September second, in many portions of the city, gangs of men have been working on the sewer system which is now being laid on both the east and west sides of the river. In the work over one hundred men have been employed and part of them will be kept working until spring.

One gang has been busy making the cement pipe for the sewers and two other crews have had charge of the laying of the pipe. Of these last two, one has been working from the outlet, just below the plant of the Janesville Electric Company, in Monterey, toward the other gang which has laid the pipe on the east side of the river and has put the two pipes which are laid in the bed of the river. Today the work of the men which were making the pipe will probably be finished but there is still the work of laying it to be done. The pipe that is put down is the Jackson sewer pipe, the Jackson company furnishing the forms for making it and a man a superintendent the work. The company laying the sewer is the People's Construction company of Davenport, Ia., which was awarded the contract for the job by the city. They furnish the men for making the pipe.

The pipe are made in two sizes. The 24 inch is used on the sewers which have been laid on Main street and will be laid on River street, and the other size which is used on the main sewer and which is four feet and ten inches in diameter. The only difference in their making is in their size.

Of the large size, eight thousand and four feet will be used and from the outlet to where the men are working on Western avenue near the intersection of South Pearl street (better known as Gold street) over three thousand feet have been laid.

Under the river two lines of iron pipe such as used in water mains, are being embedded. The sizes of these are 12 inches and 16 inches.

The making of the cement pipe of both sizes is practically the same. The forms which are used are made of semi-circular pieces and hinged to gether. In this way they can be easily removed after the cement is dry. Each stands three feet high. There is an inner sheathing, also hinged and an outer sheathing into which the cement is shoveled and tamped down. In these forms are placed to set the iron rods which are used as reinforcements, five horizontal and three circular.

A cement mixer furnishes the supply for the manufacture of the large forms and twenty-four men do the work of pouring the cement into the forms and making the pipe. Eighteen and two-thirds cubic feet of material are used in one form, of which four cubic feet are Chicago A. A. cement.

After the cement has been packed down in the forms, a collar is put over the top of it and around a part of the cement and in this way the spigot end of the pipe is made. To hasten the drying of the pipe, a fire is built and put on the inside of the form. In this way they become dry enough so that the forms can be removed in twenty-four hours. After the form has been removed, it is filled and ready for the next pipe to be made. These forms are in sets and each one is numbered so that they can be put one inner part with another outer half as might be done if they were not numbered.

In laying the pipes under the river, a temporary coffer dam is built and a trench three feet under the bed of the river is dug. In this trench the pipe are put, calked together, and then embedded in a wall of cement eight inches deep.

The coffer dam is made of planks driven into the bed of the river, four feet below the depth of the trench. An inner sheath is then driven in and the space between the two is filled with sand. The ends of the coffer dam are closed and the water is pumped out and the trench dug.

The only obstacle of any consequence is that near the shore, the sand is easily washed out and the platform of the pump sinks down and the sheathing gives way. This difficulty was experienced only twice, however, once on the east bank and once near the west bank, on Thursday.

This week the work under the river will practically be completed, except for the building of the bulkhead and making the connections with the line from Western avenue and Galena street. This work will extend the time for possibly three weeks.

On Western avenue, the first thing to be noticed is a large framework and an overhead tramway with several buckets suspended from it. At one end of the framework is a wheel, which contains a boiler and engine. This works a drum which is connected to the buckets by cables.

The digging of the sewer ditch is done by men and the dirt which is taken out is loaded into the buckets and carried back and used to fill in over the pipe which is already laid. The cable is used to hoist the buckets up to the tramway overhead.

The level of the sewer ditch is below the level of the river and there is a continual seepage of river water into the trenches constantly wear wading boots. This water is pumped out and run through a ditch back to the river. The pipe of the sewer are lowered into position with a tackle and when in position the collar of the pipe is finished with concrete grout and a joint swivel is put around each collar or joint to act as a keeper for the grout.

The work will not be finished before spring. When the ground freezes steam jets will have to be used to thaw it so the men can work with any ease.

SOCIETY'S DEMANDS CAUSED DISGRACE

Former Assistant at New York Episcopal Church—Now Inmate of Mendota Asylum.

Once pastor of one of America's most fashionable churches, St. John's Episcopal at Newport, and numbering among his parishioners the Goulds, the Vanderbilts, and other millionaires, the Rev. S. W. Moran is now an inmate of an insane asylum at Mendota, Wis., sent there from La Crosse, Wis., because of his loss of mind because of attendance of fashionable social functions at Newport and the excessive use of alcoholic drinks.

The drinking habit, according to Moran's statement when committed, was acquired by him while he was associated with Newport's smart set. Educated at the Nashota Seminary, near Oconomowoc, he went to Newport and later was called as pastor to the fashionable St. John's church. He was pastor and protégé of Mrs. Astor. Well liked, he was always invited to the highest social functions and acquired an appetite for liquor, his mind became unbalanced and he is now a physical and mental wreck.

Mr. Moran was at one time assistant rector of Grace Episcopal church assisting Mr. Durkin, formerly rector of Trinity parish of this city many years ago. He was forced to resign his charge here owing to his habits and left for the east, going to Florida. Recently he returned to Madison, a physical and mental wreck and was arrested there a week ago charged with obtaining money under false pretenses but the complaint was dismissed. Former Janesville students at the university will remember him as a bright, happy man who made friends easily.

The Rev. Mr. Moran was forced to resign his pastorate and drifted from bad to worse, sometimes filling pulpits at various places about the country, but never losing his appetite for alcohol. With a brother living at Barro Mills, a small village near La Crosse, he drifted into Wisconsin. He was arrested in La Crosse last spring, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, but released.

The fashionable set and many of the older citizens of Newport are distressed to learn that the Rev. S. W. Moran had been committed to an insane asylum in Wisconsin. Some twenty-two years ago this clergyman came there from a seminary at Nashota, Wis., where he graduated with honor, to accept the curatehip of fashionable Trinity Church, where the majority of the members of the cotillion settlement worship, including the Vanities, Sherburnes, Belmonts, DeForests, Stewarts, Howlands, Fishes, Clews, Brooks, Boltons, Klines and others.

The late Mrs. William Waldorf Astor, the Dresser family, Mrs. George Vanderbilt, Mrs. John Nicholas Brown and others were particularly interested in the new church and gave liberally toward its erection and support. All went well with the pastor for six years, during which time he introduced the first surprise chafe in Newport. He also introduced the high church service, but finally rector and congregation disapproved because of rumors of his drinking whether at his home or at dinner parties. The rector stated this was his own fault.

He severed his connections with Newport and left for Florida. Two years ago the Rev. Mr. Moran visited Newport and received a hearty welcome from his former parishioners.

Three hundred go to football game.

Janesville Well Represented at the Wisconsin-Chicago Game.

This afternoon.

Judging from the amount of passenger traffic which passed through the city, the number of persons witnessing the football game at Madison today between the University team and the University of Chicago eleven will be enormous. All of the incoming trains carried delegations from various towns who were bound for Madison, and all trains for Madison were somewhat delayed by the extra number of passengers. Three extra trains from Chicago were run, through this morning, to carry the Chicago university students.

A large delegation of rosters and the football team went up yesterday afternoon on the four o'clock train over the North-Western road. On the Madison train on the St. Paul road at 10:35 o'clock this morning, three extra coaches were added to the train here and it was delayed thirty minutes in arriving. The noon train on the North-Western also was late.

Each of the extra trains consisted of from six to nine coaches and each carried about three hundred passengers. These were the tickets sold in the local depots and there were quite a number who purchased tickets on the train so that in all there were at least over three hundred Janesville people who will see the contest. There were a dozen football enthusiasts from Rockford who came up to go to the game and quite a number from the local attended. One of the special trains carried the members, forty-five in all, of the University of Chicago band.

Among those from Janesville who went this morning to Madison were: Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Eldon, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson, Mrs. N. L. Carle, Mrs. A. P. Burnham, Miss Sarah Melan, S. D. Taltman, Louis Avery, John Baumann, Wm. McNeil, John Cantwell, Harry Morgenthau, J. F. Sweeney, Mr. and Mrs. Len Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones, Miss Ethel Jones, Clarence Brown, Walter Carle, W. THREE MISHAPS IN HEAVY FOG

TRAIN CRASHED INTO HACK AND BAGGAGE ROOM.

TOM GRIFFIN'S HEADY ACT

In Jumping Aboard Locomotive Pilot and Preventing Alva Burdick from Rolling Off Won Admiration of Dystanders.

Three serious accidents on the C. & N. W. railroad tracks may be accredited to the heavy fog which enveloped the city and the environs for several hours during the early morning. Alva Burdick, Earl Graham, and Percy Merrill were the victims and in each instance there was an almost miraculous escape from permanent injury.

Passenger Train Struck Hack. Alva Burdick was driving one of the Russell Heavy Run hacks. He and Earl Graham who had charge of the baggage wagon were anxious to get across to the St. Paul depot in order to be on hand to put the mail on the 7:30 train. The way had been obstructed by some switching but the gates were presently lifted and they seemed to be a clear thoroughfare ahead. Just as the vehicles were crossing the C. & N. W. rails the 7:10 southbound passenger rolled out of the mist bank and the locomotive crashed into both vehicles.

Burdick Caught on Pilot. The horse was already on the west side of the right-of-way when the engine struck the body of the hack. Cushman and driver were tossed from the seat and Burdick came down on the locomotive's pilot. With wonderful presence of mind and almost incredible swiftness Tom Griffin, another hack driver who happened to be in the vicinity, sprang out to meet the train, jumped aboard the cow-catcher, and caught and held his now unconscious friend aboard, the slowing projection, using one knee to prevent the latter from slipping off and under the wheels while he clung to the precarious landing-place with both hands.

Mule Blinked Recklessly. The baggage-wagon, struck on its rear end, slowly descended an arc of a circle and came to anchor with thills and harness broken and the little mule, alongside the vehicle and headed in an opposite direction. One of the sad creature's ears was dejectedly drooping; the other was still pointed buoyantly skyward; and he gazed with pained surprise and infinite reproach at the great hulking "interference" with his program. Earl Graham, the driver, was thrown from his seat and one of the stanchions or "stikes" caught him in the left of the stomach. For a few moments he was helpless and suffered excruciating pain but he was up and about in time to lend a hand in clearing the wreckage.

Hack-Wheels Smashed. The locomotive had taken the hack and jammed the front portion of it against the iron upright of the south-side gate. Forward running gear and wheels were smashed to smithereens, not a single spoke remaining intact, and the window lights had also been demolished. Burdick was removed to his home but his cap, left aboard the pilot, presumably went on to Chicago. The horse was thrown down, apparently never to rise again, and by station agent, Officer Chamption, to shoot it. Instead, he and others took hold of the hack's tail and raised the creature to its feet. The old veteran was reported to be eating oats with appetite unimpaired this noon.

Burdick Badly Bruised. Dr. R. P. Woods who attended Burdick, states that he sustained a bad cut over the right eye and that a leg and arm were badly bruised. However, no bones were broken and there are no injuries of a permanent character. He will probably be laid-up for a day or two.

Accident to Percy Merrill. On the new platform in front of the Northwestern depot somebody had been careless enough to leave a bag of coal scattered during the early morning. Percy Merrill, who was switching and hanging out from a dining-car which was to be attached to train No. 506, was unable to take note of its presence there until he bumped into it and was brushed off the train. His side was badly bruised and it is possible that a small bone in one of his hands was broken, but he expects to be at his post, as usual, this evening.

CHRISTMAS PHOTOGRAPHS.

Christmas time is coming and usually there is all the rush right at the last minute. It is not advisable to wait until the last few weeks to make your Xmas purchases. For instance, you are going to have photographs made. You wait until the last few weeks, and then the photographer already has as many orders as he can fill comfortably. If he don't take your work it goes somewhere else. If he does take it, he must rush it through in order to get it out on time. The service is not as good, nor has he time to give the courtesy or attention that he would now. Why not there-fore, if you are going to have photographs made, have them made now? You will get better work, make it easier for the photographer and you are sure of having the work finished in time.

Photographs do make excellent little Xmas remembrances, and even though you have the best, they do not cost much for each, and as presents they are very economical. Friends and relatives at home, or served in the country, would be glad to be remembered with a Christmas photograph. Adv.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

Israel Zangwill's latest play, "The Melting Pot," with Walker Whiteside in the title role, comes to the Myers Theatre on Monday evening, November 23, straight from its successful Chicago engagement, with the same cast and production as was seen there. Mr. Zangwill has been a most prolific writer. Among his best known works are "The Big Bow Mystery," "Chil-

Englishman, to accomplish what American authors have so far failed to do. It is said "The Melting Pot," Zangwill's new play, is the greatest American drama. "The Melting Pot" seems to typify this great country with its millions of immigrants from all parts of the world and its assimilating power. The author's idea is that this country is God's crucible, in-the Grand Opera House, Chicago, will be seen here at Myers Theatre, Monday evening, November 23.

Before and After I Wrote "Paid in Full."

By Eugene Walter.

(Mr. Walter's play has been a notable success at the New York and Chicago seasons, after having been declined by many managers.)

For several nights I occupied bench five in Bryant Park, while Vagondinis and Kemper were considering "Paid in Full," and in those five nights one person spoke to me five times, the policeman on the bench. Since that time five thousand persons asked why I wrote and how did I come to write "Paid in Full," and I know why. It was because I was tired of the hypocrisy, the double dealing, the been a bartender, sailor and soldier; and I want to say that the conditions in this country are not wrong. I am condemned for writing a scene such as I have written in the second act, but I am not in condemnation—I've had it all my life—and in this instance I happened to be in possession of facts when I wrote the play. The greater percentage of authors write by cut and dried rules and measurements. I don't profess to know anything of social life; I haven't written anything about it, but I do claim to know humanity, men and women, and my little offering is but a reproduction of a few lives as they have been lived. There are those who will like it. I have been called an anarchist; maybe I am, but I write what I feel. I exploit my knowledge, and now, after the broad line and the park bench, I can draw clean sheets up to my neck each night and be happy. I am content.

The Kirke LaShelle production of "The Virginian" comes to the Myers Theatre, Wednesday, Nov. 25. It has been one of the most talked of and most generously praised plays of recent production, and one of the most deserving. The same accounts lay special stress upon the wholesomeness of the play, its candor, its open air character, and above all, to the individual which an exceptionally good acting company has given to the characters. The part of the Virginian will be played by W. S. Hart, who is an ideal cowboy, both in appearance and action. "The Virginian" is a dramatization of Owen Wister's famous novel of the same name, by Mr. Wister and the late Kirk LaShelle, and is a truthful picture of life as it existed in the Wyoming cattle country in the early '80s.

"THE DEVIL," PRESENTED AT MYERS THEATRE THIS EVENING BY GRACE HAYWARD'S COMPANY

"I came from nowhere—I go nowhere—I am here," and in so saying he touches the forehead of the man and woman who are being drawn together in the net that is expertly wrapped around them. Thus does "The Devil" of Francis Molnar's sensational Hungarian comedy say of himself. For the sake of a name he is called Dr. Millar, but his whole being, the keynote of the play, is expressed as above. Dr. Millar dresses in modern clothes and it tells a modern story.

Many plays in recent years have been hailed as the great American drama. They have been of the east, of the west, of the south and of the north. But there has been no play produced which is typical of America, of its virility and its marvelous development, that has satisfied the public, and yet was the great American play. Property owners in the business section of the city who have failed to heed the new ordinance providing for the renumbering of the city are going to hear something drop in the shape of heavy fines if they do not immediately take steps to comply. City Attorney H. L. Maxfield has instructed Chief Appley to strictly enforce the law after giving a few days of grace in the shape of a preliminary notice, and the head of the police department makes the following announcement: "My attention has been called to the fact that business men in general have neglected to number their establishments. The ordinance requires that all places must be numbered. Failure to do so means a fine of from $5 to $25. I am directed to see to it that all such places are numbered within one week from this date, or proceed against the individuals owning the same."

Chief of Police.

HOTEL AT NEW YARDS NOT YET FURNISHED

Opened For Business Last Tuesday But Is Not Entirely Furnished Yet.

M. E. White & Co., hotel company of Chicago, opened the new hotel in the Northwestern sporting yards on Thursday of this week but have not yet completed the furnishings of the building. However, they have been able to care for the employees who have an opportunity to use it and this valuable adjunct to South Janesville is now firmly established. It will have sixteen bedrooms furnished with two beds each, electric lighted and steam heated. There are also sixteen more rooms on the top floor which will be finished off later, doubling the capacity of the hotel.

Ashley of Vermillion occupied the chair. Among the other prominent participants were Dr. R. C. Milloux of Yankton, Willis E. Johnson of Aberdeen, Mary E. Perkins of Sioux Falls, Superintendent Clyde Shuman of the Huron public schools, and Dr. L. H. McKinney of Vermillion.

WILL PROBABLY NOT LEAVE JANESVILLE

Reverend L. J. Vaughan Expects to Live in Janesville Despite Rumors to Contrary.

Despite rumors to the contrary Father L. J. Vaughan expects to continue to make Janesville his home. It was reported in Milwaukee and other state papers that Father Vaughan would go to Cuba City to take charge of the church work there. This appears to be a mistake. Father Vaughan said this afternoon: "Bishop Schwegel offered me the church at Ridgeway not Cuba City but thus far nothing definite has been done about the matter as Father Reilly, who is in charge there, desires to remain I understand. I have heard nothing of the Cuba City assignment."

"For the past year I have been on a leave of absence so as to speak and do not expect to return to active parish work for some time yet at least owing to my physical ailments. I have been a sufferer for many years and on this account was granted a leave of absence. I am not strong enough for active parish work as yet and could not meet the requirements of a parish."

The announcement that Father Vaughan was to leave Janesville was read by many with regret and they will be glad to learn it was erroneous. His beautiful home at Oaklawn is one of the beauty spots of Janesville. Father Vaughan devotes considerable of his time to literary work and his dramatic production "A Woman of the West" is now on the road and one of the successful dramas of the season. It appeared here early in the fall.

LETTERS BEGIN TO ARRIVE FOR SANTA

First Batch of Mail for St. Nicholas Has Already Reached the Gazette Office.

Even though Thanksgiving is coming next week and there is a big turkey dinner in prospect with mince pie and other good things to enjoy, St. Nicholas' little friends have not forgotten him.

This morning's mail brought several letters for the Patron Saint of childhood addressed in care of the Gazette office and these will be put in old Santa's mail pouch, which closes December 12th.

If the people could look into old Santa's workshop just about now they would be more than pleased. The dear old fellow is making all his plans for his journey Christmas eve and such a lot there is to do.

He must have all his good little boys and girls friends listed so that he can reach them quickly and know just what they want. He must have all his presents packed so he may carry them easily.

There are dolls and little trunks, sets of dishes, ribbons, toy doll beds, little cook stoves, books, crayons, pretty pictures, skates, sleds and other knickknacks for his girls. Then there are tool chests, barns, horses, cows, bulls, bats, skates, sleds, candy in bags, nuts and raisins, pencils and pads of paper, blackboards, and lots of other things for the boys who have been good.

Then the babies must have their presents too. There are dolls with gay covers, dolls in long dresses, rattles, oranges, candy canes, nice little bibs and cunning little toys.

I hear old St. Nicholas is very busy and his workshop loud with a happy smile on his face for his dear children. All must be ready the day before Christmas when he begins to pack his big bag that can contain ever so many presents.

Then there are his six reindeer—nice, bright, nimble fellows who can go so fast that they seem hardly to touch the ground at all—six fine happy deer who delight in carrying their master on his journey across land and sea.

Now Santa wants to remember everyone of his friends and he asks them all to write to him. He wants the letters written on but one side of the paper and sent in a stamped envelope or left at the Gazette office for him.

Dress Very Simply.

Mina, Gama, a high-class Parsee woman, traveling in this country, says that the dress of the Indian women is simply six yards of silk, satin or crepe, of which the women have hundreds, and it is draped to fit the form every time it is put on.

She Understood.
The Widow—"The way to interest a man is to talk about what he is most interested in." The Maid—"But I soon tire of talking about the man I am talking to."
